I. FACTORS CONSIDERED

18 U.S.C. § 3142:

(g) Factors to be considered.--The judicial officer shall, in determining whether there are conditions of release that will reasonably assure the appearance of the person as required and the safety of any other person and the community, take into account the available information concerning--

(1) The nature and circumstances of the offense charged, including whether the offense is a crime of violence, a Federal crime of terrorism, or involves a minor victim or a controlled substance, firearm, explosive, or destructive device;

(2) the weight of the evidence against the person;

(3) the history and characteristics of the person, including--

(A) the person's character, physical and mental condition, family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history, and record concerning appearance at court proceedings; and

(B) whether, at the time of the current offense or arrest, the person was on probation, on parole, or on other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal, or completion of sentence for an offense under Federal, State, or local law; and

(4) the nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release.

II.

FINDINGS

As to factor:

(g)(1): The nature and circumstances of the offense charged involve a controlled substance. The defendant is alleged to have violated terms and conditions of his supervised release by testing positive for the use of methamphetamine. One positive test having been given on March 20, 2009 and another on April 22, 2009. Additionally, the defendant refused and failed to complete an assessment to detect whether or not the defendant was using controlled substances.

(g)(2): The weight of the evidence against the person appears to be at the level of probable cause.

(g)(3): The history and characteristics of the person

(A) Family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history and record concerning appearance at court appearances indicate that the defendant has family ties in the Haywood County community and he has employment.

The defendant's criminal record consists of a conviction of possession with intent to distribute methamphetamine, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841.

The defendant's record concerning appearance at court appearances shows that the defendant appears in court as he is scheduled to do.

(B) At the time of the current offense or arrest, the defendant was on probation, parole or other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal or completion of sentence. It appears that this factor does exist. The defendant is alleged to have violated the terms and conditions of supervised release.

(g)(4): The nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release indicate by clear and convincing evidence that the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or danger to any other person or the community. The undersigned finds by clear and convincing evidence that the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or danger to any other person or the community. The defendant has had two positive tests on March 20, 2009 and April 22, 2009 for the use of methamphetamine and has refused to obtain a substance abuse assessment. Methamphetamine is an extremely addictive drug. These factors show by clear and convincing evidence there is probable cause to believe the defendant is addicted to methamphetamine and that his release would create a danger to any person or the community. The undersigned is of the opinion the release of the defendant would create a danger to the defendant himself in that he would use the substance.. As a result, the undersigned will issue an order detaining the defendant.

At the hearing no evidence was presented to show that the release of the defendant would create a risk of flight on his part.

The undersigned was requested by the government and the defendant to release the defendant on terms and conditions of pretrial release so the defendant could complete drug treatment. The undersigned declined to do so because the petition that contains allegations against the defendant is set for hearing for the month of June 2009. Should the undersigned send the defendant for treatment the defendant would not be able to complete the treatment. If the hearing of the petition is continued, the undersigned would consider releasing the defendant solely and completely for the purpose that he obtain treatment for use of controlled substances, in particular methamphetamine.

WHEREFORE, it is ORDERED that the defendant be detained pending further proceedings in this matter.

Signed: May 28, 2009
